LIVING IN THE COUNTRY.

The Growing Fondness For Rural Life a Good Sign.

In The Ladies' Home Journal Edward Bok, with much satisfaction, notes the strong tendency to country living and believes that "it is one of the best signs of the times. Nothing in the world can keep a man or woman so young and fresh as to be able to be in touch each day with the perpetual freshness and youth of nature. Suburban life means more out of door living, and that is what we Americans all need. We want more exercise, and suburban living makes that easier. We want our interest in things kept fresh, and that nature does for us as nothing else can.

"The more our busy men see of nature's restful ways the more restful will they become. The closer we keep our children to the soil the healthier will they develop mentally. The more our girls breathe in the pure air which God intended for all, but which man in the cities pollutes, the better women we shall have. The more our young men see of out of door sports the more clearly will they realize the greatness of splendid physical health.

"The more the tired housewife sees of flowers and plants and trees the closer will become her interest in all things natural and simple, and, as she sees the simplicity with which nature works unconsciously, will the lesson be forced upon her and enter into her own methods. We all agree that there is no teacher like nature herself. Let us all, then, get as close to her as possible. Whatever she teaches is wholesome to the mind and uplifting to the soul and strengthening to the body. In the very act of studying her wonderful ways there is health."

THE ALBATROSS.

A Bird of Majestic Aerial Velocity and Insatiable Appetite.

Out of the blue void the albatross comes unobtrusively on motionless pinions, yet at such speed that one moment a speck hardly discernible, turn but your eyes away, and ere you can again look round he is gliding majestically overhead. Nothing in nature conveys to the mind so wonderful an idea of effortless velocity as does his calm appearance from vacancy. Like most of the true pelagic birds, he is a devourer of offal, the successful pursuit of fish being impossible to his majestic evolutions. His appetite is enormous, but his powers of abstinence are equally great, and often for days he goes without other nourishment than a drink of the bitter sea. At the gargantuan banquet provided by a carcass of a dead whale he will gorge himself until incapable of rising from the sea, yet still his angry scream may be heard as if protesting against his inability to find room for more provision against hungry days soon to follow.

Despite his incomparable grace of flight when gliding through midair with his mighty wings outspread, when ashore or on deck he is clumsy and ill at ease. Even seated upon the sea, his proportions appear somewhat ungainly, while his huge hooked beak seems too heavy to be upheld. On land he can hardly balance himself, and the broad silky webs of his feet soon become lacerated. Thus his visits to the lone and generally inaccessible rocks which are his breeding places are as brief as may be, since even conjugal delights are dearly purchased with hunger and painful restraint. A true child of the air, land is hateful to him, and only on the wing does he appear to be really at home and easeful.—London Spectator

A DRAMATIC CLIMAX.

The Effect of One Woman's Pathetic Eyes on a Jury.

That juries are affected by handsome and languishing eyes is proved by a remarkable experience of the greatest advocate at the New York bar, the late James T. Brady. He was counsel for a young woman in a case involving an attempt to break a will.

His client sat by his side. She was a very beautiful young woman whose eyes seemed always to rivet the attention of those upon whom her glance fell. There was a pathetic expression which affected every one. She sat watching the jury during the course of the trial, and at last there was some complaint that she was attempting by means of her glances to excite the sympathy of the jury.

Then Mr. Brady arose and in one of the most touching and beautiful of all the addresses he ever made, in court he spoke of the blessings which every one who had an appreciation of beautiful things and could see them enjoyed, and dwelt for some moments upon the happy lot of the jury who could see the budding of the flowers—it was then spring-time—and the charms of nature; then, suddenly turning to his client, he said, "That blessing is denied my client, for, though she has eyes which seem to look upon you, gentlemen, there is no vision in them, for her sight has been taken from her."

She had been, in fact, the victim of total paralysis of the optic nerve, which had not impaired the beauty of her eyes, but had given to them that singular pathetic expression which she was thus falsely charged with employing that she might secure the sympathies of the jury.—Philadelphia Press.

THE SCHOOL PLAYGROUND.

Its Abolition is a Grievous Wrong to the Children.

This is an evil which has crept in with the tendency to centralize the schools. When in any place the schools begin to overflow, a movement to put up a larger building takes place, accompanied by an effort to create a high school department, not so much the need of the community as the ambitious dream of some principal who would be superintendent of some sort of central sun to a group of satellites.

This dream is too easily realized, because it flatters the people. Then there rises a preposterous structure of stone and brick. A house of many gables, out of keeping with everything, either public or private, in the place; a temple of vanity. Now is rung the knell of the school playground, for the new "high school," although it will house all the children from 5 to 15, must needs be surrounded by a fine lawn, studded with shrubbery and threaded by blue-stone roads. The janitor has to employ an assistant to keep the grounds in order.

A shut in, penitentiarylike place has been evolved by the architect and school committee, gratifying to their pride and a deep wrong to the children. There are many wrongs about it. The one insisted upon here is the abolishing of the recess, that time honored joy of the American schoolboy and schoolgirl.—Isabella G. Oakley in Popular Science Monthly.

West Virginia is twice as large as Massachusetts, twice as large as Maryland and as large as Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware, New Jersey and Vermont combined.

In proportion to its size, a fly walks about 35 times as fast as a man.

BY THE PEOPLE.

There are ten or eleven States where legislation is at a standstill on account of deadlocks in the election of United States Senators. In many of them scandals are rife, charges of bribery and corruption made without stint, and the probability is that in several of the States there will be no Senator elected during the current sessions. All of this trouble, uncertainty and scandal could be avoided by turning the election of Senator over to the people. The election by legislatures has nothing to commend it except its antiquity, and that is the sole argument in its favor. The clause directing that method of electing Senators is a part of the original constitution, but every year develops new canes for a change, and additional proof that it is not in harmony with our system of government, with the sentiment of the people, nor in accordance with the spirit and progress of the age. The removal of the selection of Senators by our legislatures would insure a better class of law makers, who would be chosen on account of their fitness for legislative duties, instead of their choice for the office to be elected, as at present is almost invariably the case. Millions of dollars would be saved by removal of obstructions to legislation such as are now blocking the legislatures in California, Delaware, Nebraska, Montana, North Dakota, Utah, Pennsylvania, Washington, Wisconsin and West Virginia, with no certainty of election in any of those States. But the greatest and most conclusive argument in favor of popular election is the removal of all chances of betrayal of the people by traitorous legislators like those who reversed the verdict of the people in our own little State of Nevada. There is no more reason why United States Senators should not be chosen directly by the voters than that representatives of the lower house should be elected by legislatures. Such an amendment to the federal constitution would be ratified by nine-tenths of the States in the Union, and it is a shame and an outrage that the question was not submitted to them twenty years ago. In Nevada the amendment would be ratified by even a larger majority than was polled against W. M. Stewart on the day of the election.

COMMON AND HIGHER LAW.

Indications point to the unseating of B. H. Roberts, the polygamous Congressman from Utah. There is a curious but irreconcilable contradiction between the law which will, or which ought to govern the members of Congress in dealing with the case, and the higher law, by which the contestant claims he is inspired in his religious and political actions. According to the belief of Mr. Roberts, polygamy is a divine sacrament and those who practice it will attain the highest spiritual exaltation. According to the laws of the United States and of every State in the Union, polygamy is a crime and those who commit it are liable to fine and penal servitude. According to Mormon revelation, a man with but one wife is lacking in essential spiritual qualifications and is excluded from the holy of holies. According to the statutory law, the man with more than one wife is redundant in essential qualifications and is excluded from the higher privileges of citizenship. It is a question whether the "higher" law of the Latter Day Saints, or the "lower" law of the Gentiles will prevail in Congress. The chances are that the inspired law will be knocked "higher" than the proverbial Gilroy's kite.

Mr. NEWLANDS hit the nail on the head when he said in an interview with a JOURNAL reporter that the question of the future is whether the administration of government in Nevada shall be controlled by the people or the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. That was the question at the last election and the people decided in favor of themselves, but their verdict was reversed by the treachery of some of their representatives. However, there is encouragement in the fact that the voters erred only in their judgment in their selection of men to voice their sentiments and choice. They will be more careful next time, when they will reap and enjoy the fruits of their victory. The last year's experience has proven a good lesson to them and they are not likely to repeat in 1900 the errors of 1898.

ACCORDING to the rulings of the war investigating board, almost every one who had anything to do with the war will share in the general responsibility for its bad sanitary and commissary conduct. Where everybody is to blame nobody is likely to suffer, and thus will the matter be ended. Perhaps we had better follow his own advice and charge it all to Egan.

It is a great thing for Alger, Corbin and the rest of the quartermasters, commissaries and sutlers that they have got an Egan who is willing to assume the responsibility of poisoning all of our soldier boys.

It was reported that Assemblyman Gillispie was seen late yesterday afternoon at a sheep camp in Idaho. Later information, however, locates him in Southern Arizona, where, with the speed of an antelope, he was making for the Mexican boundary.

A Sweet Scented Legislator.

Assemblyman A. J. McGowan of Ormsby last Saturday night in Thye's saloon in Reno, in the presence of more than twenty persons, publicly and loudly declared that he would never under any circumstances vote for W. M. Stewart for United States Senator. He, moreover, stated in most positive terms that he would vote for Hon. Francis G. Newlands for that office. Mr. Newlands was present and McGowan extended his hand to him in token of his good faith. On Tuesday this same McGowan in the Assembly placed Stewart in nomination in a silly and nauseously sycophantic speech and voted for the man when he has a hundred times since the Silver Party State Convention denounced the d-d old ———. There is but little room, or rather none at all, for speculation as to the motive power which brought about this sudden change. It is stated that McGowan will migrate to Montana immediately upon the adjournment of the legislature. May the devil speed his departure from the State which he has disgraced.

The Deadly Grip.

Is again abroad in the land. The air you breathe may be full of its fatal germ! Don't neglect the "Grip" or you will open the door to Pneumonia and Consumption and invite death. Its sure signs are chills with fever, headache, dull heavy pains, mucous discharges from the nose, sore throat and never-let-go cough. Don't waste precious time treating this cough with troches, tablets, or poor, cheap syrups. Cure it at once with Dr. King's New Discovery, the infallible remedy for bronchial troubles. It kills the disease germs, heats the lungs and prevents the dreaded after effects from the malady. Price 50 cent and $1.00. Money back if not cured. A trial bottle free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Mrs. Stubbs, Mother of President Stubbs of the State University, is Dead.

The JOURNAL is pained to chronicle the death of President Stubbs' mother. The aged lady died on the 24th inst. at Ashland, Ohio. It is but a short time since President Stubbs was called to Ohio to attend at the bedside of his father who was dying, and now he and other members of his family mourn the loss of a dear mother. "If a man die yet shall he live again" is written in unimpeachable language in nature's laws, and is confirmed by science, reason and written revelation given to man.

Prepare to Meet Thy God.

Mr. Jones' subject last night was: "We Must All Stand Before the Throne of God." He spoke of the preparation we should make here if we expected to inherit the kingdom of Heaven; and urged all to make a start in the Christian life, and prepare to meet their God. Everyone is invited to these services. The cottage prayer meeting will be held this afternoon at Mrs. M. E. Ward's at 2 o'clock.

The Show To-night.

Don't miss the big street parade of Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin. It will take place at noon. It almost equals a circus in length, with two brass bands, the only colored lady drum corps, many fine dogs, male and female drum majors, etc. This company appears at the Opera House to-night, and from indications will have a crowded house.

THE SASSAFRAS PLANT.

From It May Be Brewed a Pleasant Tea and a Good Mucilage.

A correspondent of the Charleston News and Courier says of the sassafras plant: "The whole plant is valuable for its medicinal properties. The root makes an excellent tea, spicy and fragrant, and has alternative virtues quite as good as the sassafras. The stalks have an inner pith that, although tedious to extract much of it, when scraped out and put into cold water and agitated for a few moments with a spoon forms a most thick and tenacious mucilage, retaining a delicate flavor of the smell of the sassafras and is a bland and soothing drink in fevers, when the mouth is dry and great thirst exists. It is frequently retained gratefully when plain water is ejected."

It is astonishing how mucilaginous a small quantity of this pith makes a tumbler of water, which becomes thick, as gum arabic water. A mere teaspoonful of the pith taken out of the small green branches of the bush will make three or four tumblerfuls of thick mucilage.

For inflamed eyes this mucilaginous water is very soothing and curative and has long been used for all forms of inflammation of delicate tissues, but is so simple that it is ignored by the profession.

The oil of sassafras, which is made from the root as well as other parts of the plant, makes a splendid liniment for pains and aches in combination with turpentine in proportion of one-third of the former to two-thirds of the latter. Other stimulating tinctures, such as spirits of ammonia, are sometimes added, but the chief ingredient of the lighting liniments hawked about by itinerant quacks are composed principally of sassafras oil, which is really pungent and effective.

Napoleon In Evergreen.

The great Napoleon, done in evergreen, is the unique statue that stands in the garden of M. d'Agillieres, in the suburbs of Paris. The statue is a perfect model of the "little corporal" in characteristic attitude, wearing a cocked hat and sword and moustache in hand. The features are very lifelike.

The greatest care is necessary in order to preserve the likeness, and the artist gardener spends considerable time in clipping off dead leaves and cutting away an occasional branch. The signature of Napoleon is reproduced at the foot of the statue in flowers.—Paris Letter.

A MISTAKE IN THE BIRD MARKET.

A Persian in the market place
Longed for and so took home a wren.
Yes, his was but a common case;
Such always are the ways of men!

Once his, the brown bird please him not;
Almost he wished it would take wing.
He loosed the cage door and forgot
The dark, unsinging, lonely thing.

Night came and touched with wind and dew
(Alone there in the dim moonshine)
A rose that at the window grew—
And, oh, that sudden song divine!

His children started from their sleep,
Their orient eyes with rapture lit.
Their pale young mother hid to weep;
Their father did not cure a whit.

He only heard the impassioned wail
From that small prison overhead.
"My wren is but a nightingale!"
"I'll wring its noisy throat!" he said.
—Sarah Pratt in Century.

WHAT A WORK IS MAN!

The Human Body the Most Wonderful Thing in the World.

Human beings are of all sizes, but the tall man is less common than the short. Only one in every 208 exceeds the height of six feet. For every foot of stature a man should weigh from 20 to 28 pounds, a proportion that is not the lot of all in these hurrying, scurrying days. An average sized man weighs 140 pounds; a woman 125 pounds. Curiously enough, the mean weight and height of lunatics are below those of sane people. Another unexpected thing in this respect is that a negro's skeleton weighs more than that of an Englishman.

The vitalizing power is the blood, a drop of which takes but 23 seconds to go the round of the body. There passes through the heart once every three minutes an amount of this precious fluid equal to all that is contained in the body. The mileage of the blood circulation reveals some astonishing and undreamed of truths. It is estimated that, assuming the average speed of the heart to be 69 beats a minute, the blood travels 207 yards in 60 seconds. In other words, 7 miles an hour, 168 a day, or 6,320 per year.

Qualified to Do It.

"Did you know," said the looth carpenter, looking up from his paper, "that the Indians practiced dentistry in the earliest times?"

"I didn't know it," replied the man who had once sat in a dentist's chair, "but I am not at all surprised. The Indians have always been a brutal and cruel race."

Then he laughed gleefully, forgetful of the fact that there was still time for the dentist to add $15 or $20 to his bill. —Chicago Post.

STATE LEGISLATURE

THE NINETEENTH SESSION.

Tenth Day—A Committee Appointed to Investigate Charges of Corruption.

CARSON CITY, Jan. 25, 1899.

The Senatorial war completely terminated at noon to-day, when both houses met in joint convention and formally ratified the treaty of peace in the vote of yesterday, electing Wm. M. Stewart to succeed himself as Senator from Nevada for the next six years. Young Gillespie, the Assemblyman who was so conspicuously the only absentee on the Senatorial vote of yesterday, thus giving Stewart a majority of one in the Assembly, was still the only absentee to-day.

The invariable course of proceedings heretofore has been for both houses to vote separately for U. S. Senator and next day both houses meet in joint convention and have a joint ballot on the proposition, but that ballot was not deemed judiciously safe on this special occasion; consequently was omitted. It was called for, but promptly ruled out of order, and the convention immediately adjourned.

SENATE.

Met at 11 o'clock; roll call, prayer by the chaplain and reading of the journal, as usual.

The matter of the contested seat case of Lord vs. Conboie came up. Mr. Flannigan, who presented the minority report of the Committee on Elections, spoke in support thereof, reading the law relating thereto. He claimed that the matter should be considered in a perfectly non-partisan light and entirely upon its legal merits.

Mr. Martin favored the retention of the seat by Lord and spoke of his military career in the service of his country.

Mr. Denton spoke enthusiastically on Lord's war record, waved the American flag vigorously and wound up with "remember the Maine."

Comins said that both contestants were colonels of similar military record, and also waved the flag over Colonel Lord's military career on the Comstock.

Other Senators argued the subject, and in committee of the whole Colonel Conboie was invited to make his statement. He commenced by remarking: "I presume that the case is already settled upon, but—"

Mr. Ernst immediately sprang to his feet and moved that the majority report of the Committee on Elections be adopted. This was immediately done and the whole matter summarily ended.

Colonel Conboie at once marched across the hall to Colonel Lord and the two doughty warriors shook hands across the bloody chasm and buried the tomahawk.

A communication was received from Dr. Bergstein, superintendent of the State Hospital for Mental Diseases, inviting the Senate to a lecture to be given by himself on the insane of Nevada, in the Assembly chamber next Thursday evening. Accepted.

JOINT CONVENTION.

At 12 o'clock noon the Senate marched to the Assembly and both bodies went into joint convention to ratify the Senatorial election of yesterday. Lieutenant-Governor Judge, President of the Senate, presiding.

The rolls of both houses were called and all the members found to be present except Assemblyman Gillespie, who still continued absent, the sergeant-at-arms not having found him.

The President said: "This being the hour appointed under the statutes for holding joint convention of the Legislature on the election of United States Senator, the secretary of the Senate will now read such portions of the Senate journal as relate to the balloting for U. S. Senator."

The chief clerk of the Assembly also read similar portions of the Assembly record.

The President then said: "It appearing from the reading of the journals of each branch of this Legislature that the vote resulted in a majority being given in each for William M. Stewart, I therefore declare Wm. M. Stewart duly elected as United States Senator from Nevada for the ensuing term of six years."

Senator Comins called for a joint poll of the convention, but was ruled out of order. He appealed from the decision of the chair, but a motion to adjourn prevailed and the convention adjourned, the session occupying just fifteen minutes.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session of the Senate was quite lively and sploty in some respects.

Mr. Comins' bill to fix the State levy and distribute it to the proper funds was ordered engrossed.

Denton asked that the contested seat of Boyle vs. McCollough be now brought up. He wanted the ballots sent for at Virginia.

Williams objected on the ground that the ballots might get marked or injured in the handling and counting and result in a still worse miscount and confusion. He did not approve of such recounts being made in the Legislature, after the proper officers of election had got through with them.

Comins objected on the ground that Boyle had himself dropped the contest and moved that the matter be temporarily laid upon the table. Carried.

Comins rose to a question of privilege and read an article published in the Carson Appeal, headed "A Specimen Brick," in which he was referred to personally and which reflected on his honor in politics and the course he pursued against Stewart during the recent campaign, closing by saying: "And I believe the Senate will conclude that I was right before the end of the next six years."

Denton got furious over something that had appeared in the Reno JOURNAL about him. Comins helped him to a brief but sharp personal allusion to his course in the recent campaign—first against Stewart, and yesterday being the first to vote for him. They had it hot for a few minutes, and a personal collision was seemingly prevented by their being called to order by the chair.

The Senate then adjourned.

test and moved that the matter be temporarily laid upon the table. Carried.

ASSEMBLY.

The Assembly met pursuant to adjournment. The usual routine of opening the session was concluded when under the head of motions and resolutions, Mr. McMillan of Storey arose and said that owing to the absence on Tuesday of Mr. Gillespie, a member of the Storey county delegation and in view of certain strictures made on that gentleman, he believed it only common justice to the other members of the Storey delegation, that a full and fair investigation should be had and he would move that a committee of five be appointed to thoroughly investigate the charges as well as the action of Mr. Gillespie at this critical time.

The motion carried and Messrs. McMillan, Dooley, Wilkerson, Coryell and Stroeniger were appointed.

Mr. McGowan of Ormsby introduced Assembly Bill No. 4, for the repeal of the purity of election law.

Mr. Pitt introduced Assembly Bill No. 3, to prevent the shipment of wild game from this State.

Mr. Patey introduced Assembly Bill No. 5 providing for the reduction of salaries in certain county offices of Storey county.

A recess was taken to await the hour of the joint convention viz. 12 o'clock M.

At the hour provided by the United States statute, the Assembly met and a committee was appointed to wait on the Senate and inform that body that the Assembly was ready to meet in joint convention.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Assembly met at 2 o'clock. The committee on State institutions reported on Assembly Bill No. 2, relative to appointing a business manager for the Asylum, favorably, the committee having suggested a few amendments.

The investigating committee of the morning was by resolution increased to four members and the committee empowered to procure persons and papers and administer oaths.

There was some little filibustering on the proposition of enlarging the committee and an effort was made to lay the whole matter on the table but it failed.

Adjourned.

There was a small scrap in Carson last evening at the Arlington, between Tom Smith of Gold Hill, one of Stewart's political rounders, and Frank Murphy. Smith was feeling pretty exalted over the election of his boss, and sneeringly called Murphy one of the "Newlands push," using other mean language that induced Murphy to summarily knock him down. Smith tried to pull his gun but Deputy Sheriff Ulrick interfered and took charge of him.

An Interesting Case.

All people are interested in a new case that has recently cropped up in Reno, and they have good reason for being so. This case contains many striking features. It is Mr. F. P. Dann's show case on Virginia street, down by the Iron bridge. It is very beautiful, his new window display of all that is modern in photography. There one may see large opalotypes small autotypes and lovely porcelains. Just think! Artistic photographs on genuine porcelain. And what do you think of this? He makes photographs on handkerchiefs—silk handkerchiefs. What more appropriate present could be imagined than one of these with your photo on it?

C. D. Van Duzer came down from Carson last night and went east.

George E. Young has gone to Clark's station to act as night telegraph operator.

E. O. Beauchamp and Marie E. Kohler, both of Sacramento, were married in Reno yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Edmundson of Lovelock are here on a visit to the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McFarland.

F. D. Graves of Montreal, Canada, is in Reno visiting his brother George. As they had not met for twenty-four years the meeting was a happy one.

The Wheelmen's Club has issued invitations to its members to attend a "stag party" and smoker next Friday evening. An entertaining program has been arranged and a lavish spread will also be a feature of the evening.

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Wheelmen's Club held last evening it was decided to bring off another minstrel performance on or about the 22d of February. Judging from past experiences in that line it will be superior to the average minstrel performance that travels through this section of the country. The boys are fully capable and undoubtedly will give a first-class show.

Soldiers En Route to Manila.

The Twentieth Regiment Infantry, U. S. A. passed through Reno yesterday noon on their way from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to Manila. They number 1350 privates and officers. The train bearing them came in five sections. A large majority of them are young men who have been lately recruited into the regular army. General Wheaton has command of the regiment. We learn from the General that Captain Duquet, one time military instructor of the State University, has fully recovered from his wound he received at the battle of Santiago and is again on duty at Fort Leavenworth.

A False Report.

It is thought by some that Dr. Stubbs, in retiring from his position as President of the State University has in view a much more desirable position—that of President of the University of California.—Ea.

Dr. Stubbs has not retired from his position as President of the Nevada University, nor has he any intention of doing so. He went some time ago to California for the benefit of his health, and is expected back in a few days to resume his duties at the University. The above report has been going the rounds of the Nevada press for the last week and we cannot imagine how the misstatement was floated into circulation.

Mr. Meakin's Lecture.

The entertainment given last night in the fraternity hall of the new investment building was well attended and enjoyed by all. Mr. Meakin proved himself to be an eloquent lecturer and an able entertainer.

Mr. J. P. Meakin is an active member of the comparatively new but thriving order of 38,000 members, the Woodmen of the World. In his address he traced the evolution of man from the brutal savage of prehistoric times up to the present state of civilization, dwelling at length on the important part that fraternity has played in his advancement.
